

Georgetown Defeats Generals
For South Atlantic Grid Title

GEORGETOWN CHAMPION OF SOUTH ATLANTICS BY TRIMMING W. AND L.

By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.

Georgetown is the South Atlantic football champion for 1919 as a result of its unexpected victory over the bulkier Washington and Lee eleven, 27 to 6, before a throng taxing even the standing room capacity at the Hilltop. Until the Hilltoppers leaped at them like a pack of angry wolves, the Generals had not even been scored upon this season and had cleaned up every foe, including the powerful Georgia Tech team.

Embittered by the loss of Captain McQuade and Bill Dudack, who watched the game from the sidelines, the Blue and Gray athletes covered themselves with glory. Each and every lad used by Coach Exendine showed distinct improvement since the Atlanta contest, while Jack Flavin and Gus Malley, starting for the first time this year, flashed to the front as stars in embryo. These two kids, trained to the minute and anxious to do well before the monster crowd, provided most of the fireworks of the afternoon with their stellar running.

Gen. Peyton C. March, chief of staff, sat behind the Georgetown players' bench, an interested spectator. He was a great player in his college days at Lafayette and it was no new game to him. He was compelled to rise between the halves and respond to a cheer from the Georgetown cheering section.

The Generals loomed up like giants when they first lined up. It seemed as if the lighter Georgetown line would be smothered. But it wasn't. Every man in that Georgetown line was keyed up to his best performance of the season and before the game ended the Generals seemed more like pygmies.

Perhaps the most spectacular play in the line was done by little Alec Anderson. Outweighed by 35 or 40 pounds, the wee Georgetown center toyed with Paget, his huge opponent. Indeed, their scrap became funny as the game progressed, for Anderson was throwing his opponent around like a sack of meal, hurrying his passes and tearing through him generally. Alec played a great game, both on offense and defense. His own passes were perfect, while on defense he was tackling here and everywhere, besides encouraging all his team mates. If any one forward deserves praise, it is Alec Anderson, who wore down big Paget and caused a substitute to come in toward the end of hostilities.

GENERALS ARE ROUTED

Georgetown. Position. W. & L.
T. Sullivan. L. E. Daves
Smeach. L. G. Sanford
Anderson. Center. Bale
Comstock. R. G. Bates
O'Connell. R. T. Bethel
Kenyon. R. E. M. Mattox
Maloney. Q. B. J. Mattox
Flavin. L. H. B. Raines
Plavin. L. H. B. Stevens
Leighly. F. B. McDonald
Touchdowns—Maloney (2), Malley, Leighly, Bethel. Goals from touchdowns—Maloney (2). Goals from field—none. Missed—Maloney, J. Mattox. Referee—Mr. Bergen, Princeton. Umpire—Mr. Magiffin, Michigan. Linesman—Mr. Oase, Lehigh. Play judge—Mr. Thomas. Time of periods—15 minutes. Substitutions—Georgetown—Gargan for Malley, Buckley for Flavin, Livers for Leighly, Zazali for Kenyon, Moran for Comstock, Mers for Smeach, Davis for O'Connell, Washington and Lee—Corbett for M. Mattox, Collins for Paget, Barrow for Bailey, Coghill for Stevens.

Jack Flavin, out of the game most of the season with a bum runner, showed the big crowd that he can run. He romped away several times. In the first period he raced for thirty-one yards and left in the second period he galloped for thirty-five yards. Always he was a dangerous runner, once he could shake himself loose from the strugglers in the scrimmage line.

"Gloomy Gus" Malley, the freshman starting his first game, as a varsity player, proved another success. This youngster broke through tackle in the second period, shook off a couple of Washington and Lee tacklers, and galloped for thirty-four yards for a touchdown.

Dutch Leighly, too, came through this season, but against Washington and Lee he was more like his old self. His line-plunging was strong and sure, adding much to Georgetown's rushing game.

It is unfair to single out any of the forwards, save perhaps Alec Anderson. They all stood up to their job in fine style. Now it was "Zoob" Sullivan who stopped a play. Again it was Metz Smeach or Joe O'Connell or Tony Comstock. Never were the Generals to gain consistently through that lighter Georgetown line.

Bethel Blocks A Kick.
The Generals' lone score came in the second period. Georgetown had held for downs on its own 25-yard line and attempted to punt on the third down. Big Bethel, the Generals' captain and right tackle, smashed his way through, blocked the kick, seized the ball and quickly galloped down for a touchdown. At no other time was Washington and Lee even dangerous, much to the surprise of the Georgetown supporters who had expected defeat.

The Washington and Lee forwards, big and heavy, were extremely sluggish. The Hilltoppers ripped and tore them apart or sifted through them with ease. The backs, with the exception of Raines, at right halfback, lacked speed or evident desire to hit the line.

Georgetown kicked off to start the game, when M. Mattox fumbled a Hilltopper recovered the ball on a 25-yard line. A 15-yard penalty nullified some line rushing, and so Maloney tried a field goal from the 48-yard line. The ball barely missed the cross bar.

Washington and Lee could do nothing, and punted to midfield. There Georgetown was, running attack moving. Flavin ripped off thirty-one yards and Leighly and Malley soon had the ball within reaching distance of the goal line. Flavin tossed a forward pass to Maloney, and a touchdown was chalked up in only 4 minutes 35 seconds. The Virginia side of the field was breathless.

Following the kickoff, the Generals began to gain some ground, carrying the ball from their own 25-yard line to Georgetown's 35-yard line, only to lose it on downs. Nothing more happened during the period, and Georgetown opened the second period with the ball on the Generals' 25-yard line. Maloney's attempt at a field goal failed.

The teams were evenly matched. Orange institution scoring two touchdowns on intercepted forward passes. Harris and Foster played heat for the winners, and Morton, deButte, and Shackelford for the Episcopalians. Morton picked two goals from the field for Episcopalians only scores.

WOODBERRY FOREST WINS OUT OVER EPISCOPAL BOYS

Woodberry Forest School yesterday defeated their old rivals, Episcopal High School, 20-6 on the latter's field.

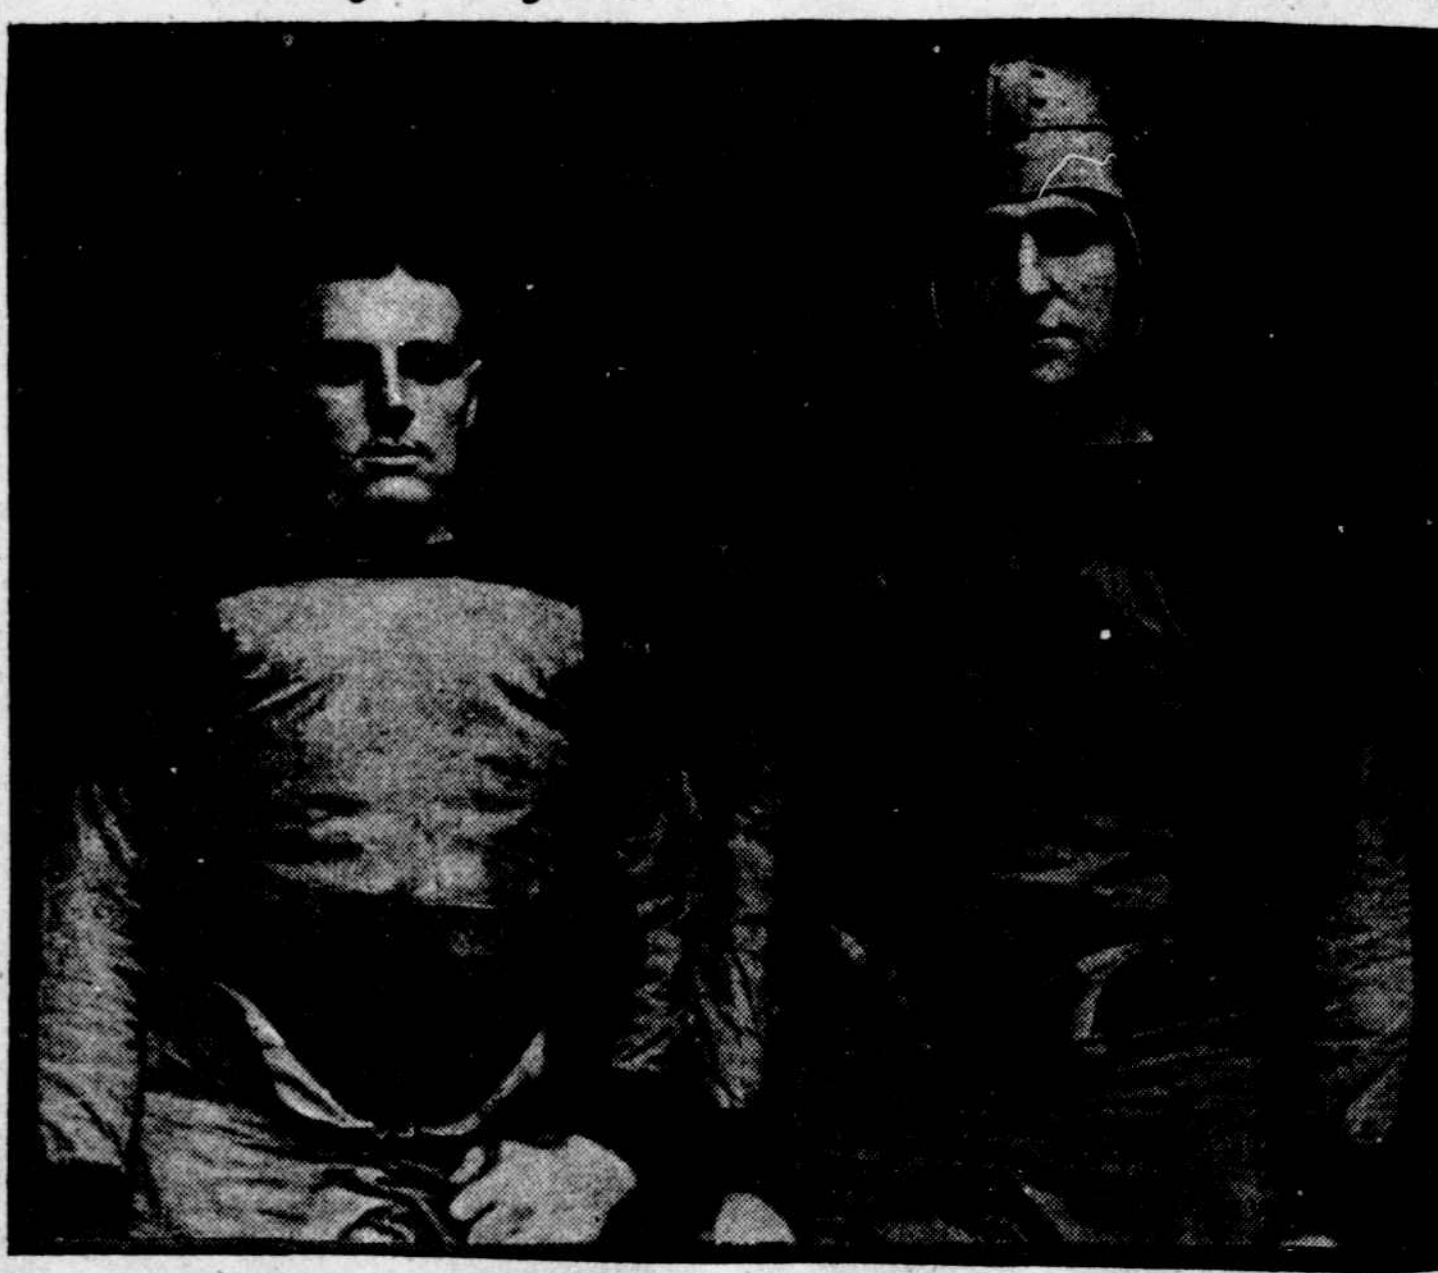

The teams were evenly matched. Orange institution scoring two touchdowns on intercepted forward passes. Harris and Foster played heat for the winners, and Morton, deButte, and Shackelford for the Episcopalians. Morton picked two goals from the field for Episcopalians only scores.

WILL LEAVE THURSDAY.
Georgetown's varsity squad will leave Thursday on the Federal Express for Boston, where Frank Cavanaugh's Boston college eleven will be played Saturday at Fenway Park. This class has the Hilltoppers' gridiron campaign for the year.

They Played In the Harvard-Yale Football Classic Yesterday

Here are the Horween brothers, Ralph on the left and Arnold on the right. Ralph kicked a field goal yesterday from the 40-yard line. Arnold started at fullback, switched to center and then back to fullback again, playing strong football in both positions.

This is "Tim" Callahan, Yale's doughty captain and center, who played his last game for Old Eli yesterday against Harvard.

BOSTONIANS SEE GEORGETOWN PLAY STATERS REST UP AGAINST MARYLAND

Frank Cavanaugh, coach of the Boston College eleven, which is to meet Georgetown at Fenway Park, Boston, next Saturday, witnessed the big victory of the Hilltoppers over Washington and Lee yesterday. He had with him Captain Fitzpatrick and Quarterback Corrigan, hoping to see something of value to his own team.

"Well, Georgetown showed about all it had," said Coach Exendine after the game. "If Boston College can benefit any we can't help it. However, Georgetown isn't worrying any over that."

The College Park men scored three touchdowns from which two goals were kicked. Second string players were given a chance and came through nicely.

Safe in the knowledge that Hopkins was having all it could do to hold St. John's to a 13-all tie, State made little attempt to swamp the visitors.

Two touchdowns were counted in the first five minutes of play by the Staters yesterday. Ward and Langrell, of the visitors, appeared to be the only players capable of stopping the State eleven.

MICHIGAN LOSES AGAIN.
AN NARBOR, Nov. 23.—Michigan was wallowed again yesterday, Minnesota running wild and triumphing, 34 to 7. The Gophers ripped through the Wolverines wherever they wished and were never in danger.

RE-ENGAGE TOM READY.
BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 23.—Tom Ready has signed to coach the Lehigh football and basketball teams for three years or more at a substantial increase in salary.

MORAWKS HAVE GAME.
Muhawk A. C. players tackled the Montrose A. C. eleven in today's game at Third and Wisconsin avenues northwest.

PANTHERS WIN, IT TO 7.
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—The Pittsburgh Panthers defeated Carnegie Tech here yesterday, 17 to 7, but Glenn Warner had to rush in all his regulars to do it.

WILLARD WON'T FIGHT.
LAWRENCE, Kan., Nov. 23.—Joe Willard, former world's heavyweight champion, says he has no idea of returning to the ring. "I'm too busy," he says.

ILLINOIS CAUSES UPSET FOR TITLE

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 23.—Experts are trying to dope out today how the western conference title race stands following Illinois 10 to 7 victory over Ohio State here yesterday.

It was a last minute win for the Illini tribe. All of Coach Zuppke's tricks were displayed in the closing moments of play and when Capney and Reichle and Walquist and Reichle snapped off forward passes, which brought the ball to State's twenty-yard line, Fletcher place kicked the winning goal.

Ohio State looked like a winner up to the final minutes. Harley, playing his last game for Ohio State, was a whirlwind. Stinchcomb ran his team perfectly.

The defense of the Illinois team, coupled with the consummate skill with which Harley and Stinchcomb were watched by the Illini players, stopped State. Sternaman sent Illinois in the lead on a fifty-yard dash for a touchdown from which Reichle failed at goal.

In the third quarter Ohio State literally tore the Illini line to threads. Harley finally jammed through for a touchdown from which he kicked a goal. Then Illini pulled the game out of the fire.

REX LADS READY FOR PHILLY MEN

Rex A. C. players stack up against the fast Germantown All-Scholastic eleven at Union Park today in what promises to be one of the best games of the independent season.

The Rex men came out of their two games last week in fairly good shape. Today they will tackle a team reputed to average 168 pounds. The Germantown lads have cleaned up the suburban clubs around Philadelphia.

Rex had a narrow squeak against the Chesbrook eleven, of Wilmington, last Sunday and won out when "Bus" Hager booted a field goal from the thirty-five-yard line.

JEFFERSON ELEVEN TO PLAY NAVY MEN

The fast Jefferson football team, of Charlottesville, Va., is playing the Navy Yard eleven today on the Navy Yard Recreation Field.

Falling to get a game with the Squad B team, at Annapolis, Md., the Navy Yard lads engaged the fast Virginia eleven. The visitors come with an enviable record.

Navy Yard will present a formidable line-up, and one which will be thoroughly drilled for the coming game with the Rex A. C. team on December 7.

HARRY McMAHON STARS IN STAUNTON VICTORY

Harry McMahon, of this city, well known to amateur baseball fans here and football followers as well as the star of the Staunton-Augusta Military Academy football clash at Staunton yesterday.

The State title was annexed by the Staunton team which trimmed its rivals by 60 to 3. Despite a wet field the Staunton team, with McMahon leading the attack, literally swamped Augusta.

LYNCH MEETS WOLFE.
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—Joe Lynch, of New York, meets Jack Wolfe, the Cleveland featherweight, at the Olympia tomorrow night in the feature bout.

BATTLES TO DRAW.
BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 23.—St. John's and Johns Hopkins played a 19 all game here yesterday. The Hopkins team came from behind.

Here's Bill Murray, Harvard's captain and quarterback, who played sterling football against Yale.

YALE FUMBLING OFFERS HARVARD BIG CHANCES

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 23.—More than fifty thousand persons saw Harvard make history yesterday in the stadium. Defeating Yale by 10 to 3, the Crimson eleven furnished Yale with a blow which coupled with the loss of the Princeton game a week ago, forces the Eli men into their first taste of Harvard-Princeton losses in twenty years. Harvard was better all the way. Yale's fumbling was atrocious. And that tells the story.

Eight times during the battle Yale was guilty of faulty handling of the ball. Four times the pigskin was recovered, but in the main it was the inability to handle the ball that gave Harvard a three-time chance to count.

Set in large type today are the names of Eddie Casey and Ralph Horween, of Harvard, and Jim Braden, of Yale. Braden scored Yale's only points with a dropkick which carried fifty-three yards in a blowing wind. Casey's open field work, his catching of forward passes and all-around defensive work was a revelation. Add to this Horween's forty-yard dropkick and the picture is quite complete.

Harvard's line three times staved off the attack of the Blue players, and once in its supreme moment took the ball away from Yale on the six-inch line when a tie would have resulted had Yale scored.

It was Casey and Norween for Harvard, in furnishing the backfield punch which defeated Yale. Combined with a rush line which consistently out-charged the Yale forwards, Harvard was better at all times.

Play was in Yale's territory during the first period and Braden and Kempton got within Harvard's 40-yard line. Braden's fumble of an exchange of punts and Felton's forward pass to Casey, with Humphrey's interfering, brought the first count. Casey eluded Braden and got by Kempton for a touchdown, which with Norween's drop-kick, brought the score up to ten points for Harvard.

Braden's fumbles and those of Rinehart on forward passes lost a chance for the Yale eleven. Philbin was sent in for Yale and, with Aldrich, succeeded in working the ball down to the brink of Harvard's goal line. A superhuman defense stopped the blue.

Later the stage was set for Braden's remarkable drop-kick. It was the last and dying effort of the Yale team to count. Braden's attempt was successful, but Yale had lost its chance to even up when the Harvard forward had shown their mettle.

The last meeting between Yale and Harvard was in 1916, when Yale won by 6 to 3. Yesterday's victory for Harvard was the tenth in thirty-seven games and was a signal honor for Tom Fisher, who succeeded Percy Houghton. Yale gained 207 yards in fifty-seven rushes, while Harvard gained ninety-two yards in twenty-nine rushes.

Harvard gained sixty-four yards in six forward pass attempts, three of which were successful. Yale netted seven yards on seven forward passes, two of which were successful. Kicking honors on punts were even. Fumbles and Harvard's interception of Yale forward pass attempts gave the crimson the deciding edge.

SYRACUSE ELEVEN GETS SURPRISE AT INDIANA

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 23.—Syracuse football players and followers of the eleven who came out here with the team are vainly trying to explain the 12 to 6 defeat registered by the Indiana eleven on the big Syracuse field yesterday.

The Hoosiers matched their opponents all the way in every department of the game and were rewarded with a win. Donovan scored a touchdown for Indiana while Percy counter with two field goals. Malone scored for Syracuse.

HELPS OUT ELEVEN.
Two former Washington High School football stars are assisting in putting the Army and Navy teams on their toes for their coming clash. "Bik" Jones, former Central star line-man, is at West Point, and "Bilik" Wheelch is down at Annapolis with coach Dobie.

ARMY TAKES REST.
WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Owing to the cancellation of yesterday's game by Springfield Y. M. C. A. college, the Army eleven was able to have a day's rest. Tomorrow will begin final preparations for the battle with the Middies.

MIKE GIBBONS DONE.
ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 23.—Mike Gibbons, yielding to the wishes of his wife, today announced his retirement from the ring. Mike O'Leary, world's champion, shaded him in a fast bout here Friday night.

Harvard Wins Big Contest From Yale Before Big Crowd of Fans

CENTER COLLEGIANS NOW IN FRONT RANK

Center College, of Danville, Ky., has sprung a new town on the map for football fans. Center did it by wallowing West Virginia a week after Bill Rodgers had humbled Princeton. Center College has 206 students, and from that handful of robust Kentuckians a real team has been assembled. Other teams this year have flashed a brilliant game and then faded away, as Boston College did over Yale. But Center's victory over the strong Mountaineers was won by brand of ball that they have been playing so far shows a total of 216 points, against 16 for their opponents. They have not lost a game in three years, and have this season beaten Hanover College, 95 to 0; Indiana University, 12 to 3; Transylvania, 60 to 0; University of Virginia, 49 to 7, and West Virginia, 14 to 3. They have games yet to play with Kentucky State and Georgetown, of Kentucky.

For three years, under the tutelage of Coach Moran, who spends his summers umpiring in the major leagues, this little college has been making a football rep. But the dust kicked up by the team could not clear the mountains of 155-pound Ohio, Allen Davis, of Danville, and Norris Armstrong, of Fort Smith, Ark. Jimmie Roberts, of Somerset, Ky., is the fullback.

Murphy, halfback, was a mate of Chick Harley, all-American fullback, and now captain of the champion Ohio State eleven, when he played on the North High School team of Ohio's capital city.

Coach Moran classed Captain McMillan as one of the greatest football players in the country. "I have seen his equal, but not his superior," he said. Much of the credit for the success of the team has been given to Moran. He is a former Tennessee University man. He is an old hand at the coaching game. He handled Bethel College from 1898-1899. He then went to the University of Nashville for two years and then had a year with the Dallas Athletic Club, in Texas. In 1904-1906 he played on the Madison, Ohio, professional team, and in the two following years he coached the Athletic Club and High School team in Grand Rapids, Mich. From 1908 to 1914 he was with Texas A. and M. College, and put in the year 1915 as assistant coach and trainer with the Carlisle Indians. He then went to Center College, where his success has been pronounced.

FOOTBALL RESULTS

Georgetown, 27; Washington and Lee, 6. Maryland State, 20; Western Maryland, 12. Villanova, 26; Catholic University, 17. Gallaudet, 21; Drexel Institute, 6. Rutgers, 28; Northwestern, 6. West Virginia, 49; Ohio Wesleyan, 6. Lafayette, 10; Lehigh, 6. Pittsburgh, 17; Carnegie Tech, 7. Swarthmore, 44; Haverford, 6. Johns Hopkins, 15; St. John's, 12. Stevens, 26; Worcester Poly, 6. Washington and Jefferson, 23; West Virginia Wesleyan, 6. Hampden-Sidney, 7; William and Mary, 6.

URAIINE HOPEFUL OF WINNING BOIT

Mike Uraine, Washington's "Fighting Cop," is hopeful of winning his fifteen-round bout with Young Kid Broad, of Philadelphia, at Ardmore, on Thanksgiving night. He has been training faithfully for this contest and is now about ready for his hardest work of the ring.

"I expect to win, says Mike. "I'm fit as a fiddle and this Young Kid Broad'll have to hustle to get away with anything."

In addition to the Uraine-Broad battle, Joe Schwartz, Washington's newsway batter, and Young Kilbasa, of Akron, Ohio, will clash for six rounds. Kid Turner, of the navy yard, will meet Toots Brown in a six-round clash and three four-round prelims will come after the battle royal.

RUTGERS ELEVEN SHOWS SOME STUFF

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 23.—Rutgers football players showed some stuff yesterday against Northwestern University, which journeyed here with the idea of handing the Rutgers men something new in the grid game.

Getting the jump on their opponents, Rutgers did not stop until the whistle had blown on a 28-0-0 win. French and Gardner, in the attack of the New Jersey men, while Agroid, of Northwestern, was the best player presented by the visitors.

SYRACUSE WINS LONG RUN FOR COLLEGIATE HONORS

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Syracuse won the intercollegiate cross country run here yesterday with 49 points to Princeton's 68. Cornell was third with 80 points.

John Lammons, of Syracuse, won the long jump in 33.55 4-5. W. K. McMahon, of Massachusetts Tech, was second.
